AFFORDABLE HOUSING OPTIONS FOR OLDER ADULTS

There are basically two types of affordable housing available to older adults in Wake County – subsidized properties and tax credit properties. In both cases, your income must usually fall below a set limit in order to be eligible; limits are usually based on the median (middle) income for the county, and change each year. Most properties use either 50% or 60% of the median income as their limit. Some properties have a tiered system, where there may be several income levels and several corresponding rent levels. Assets (such as savings or investments) may also be taken into account as a source of income.

In subsidized housing, rents are based on your income, usually with some allowances for medical expenses. Other affordable housing is funded through tax credits to the builder/developer; in these buildings, everyone in the same income category pays the same rent (not a sliding scale). Tax credit properties often have a minimum income level as well as a maximum. Some affordable housing is limited to older adults (age limits vary); while other properties are open to people of all ages. In some cases, only one resident needs to meet the age requirement; that is, a younger spouse or family member may live there as well; check with the property manager to verify this for a particular property. Most properties on this list will accept Section 8 housing vouchers, but vouchers are not required.

The following information was correct, to the best of our knowledge, when this list was last updated, but verify by calling the properties you are interested in. Rents and income limits may change.

We understand that finding affordable housing can be time-consuming and frustrating. When you begin to call apartments listed, you will often get an answering machine instead of a live voice. PLEASE LEAVE A MESSAGE. The site manager will return your call. Most apartment complexes will offer to mail applications to you, if you are unable to fill one out on-site or online. Many individuals decide to apply at several complexes. By doing this, you may possibly increase your chances of finding an apartment sooner than expected. It is not impossible to find an available apartment in Wake County, but it will require patience. If at all possible, plan ahead. It is best not to wait until the last minute to begin your search for housing. The information in this handout is subject to change at any time. Please verify all information with each complex or community you may be interested in.
