Resources for Seniors Announces New Website

Raleigh, NC – March 9, 2016 – Resources for Seniors which was founded in 1973, announces the release of their new website.

This new site is more user-friendly for seniors, caregivers and industry professionals. It provides a better search experience for services and programs that are available in Wake County.

Resources for Seniors worked with a team of computer engineering students at NC State University. The students modernized the look of the site; made it mobile responsive, while maintain the commitment to quality and easy access to information. A new component of the site allows visitors to build a personalized PDF document of specific programs and services they need. Our goal is to give our clients and their family members a true understanding of our organization and keep them informed of the senior related information that's available in Wake County. The website gets about two million hits per year and; since our population continues to age, our services expand to meet the growing needs of the community.
